

My experience about the Erasmus project

I have spent a week in Piraeus, Greece with 2 of my teachers and with one of my classmates. It was a great experience, especially for learning English and getting to know the culture.

The first day when I arrived to the hosting family, after a little rest, they brought me to the local cultural centre. While we were walking around there, my hosting girl and me started to get to know one another.

The next few days, we have spent couple days with other greek girls from the school and they brought us to the centre of Piraeus. They showed us the bay area and taken us around the city to show us the local famous sights. We visited the National Bank and the Akropolis, where we had a picturesque view of Athen.

The most interesting day was when we went to a mountain for a hike and there I made a wonderful friendship with a portuguese boy and we are still in contact.

I have also learnt a lot about climate change because we had different workshops regarding this topic.

That week was a great experience, not only for new friendships, but for practicing English and learning a lot how to be environmentally-friendly.
